LOUIS VUITTON x URS FISCHER nylon down jacket, $3,650, and Keepall Bandoulière 45, $3,250.

ART ATTACK

Artist Urs Fischer’s penchant for irreverently reinterpreting everyday objects (giant cigarette boxes) or people (life-size wax candle sculptures) generally raises the question of where his gaze will fall next. Now he’s taking on Louis Vuitton’s Monogram pattern. The Swiss artist, who splits his time between his Solano Canyon house and New York studio, devised a whimsical version of the design that began as a freehand sketch, morphing Georges Vuitton’s 1896 pattern — flowers and all — into floating motifs with puffy shapes that appear on bags (including Cabas, Speedy and Keepall special editions), shoes and apparel. An LV x UF silk square even references the silicone banana from Fischer’s 2019 Artycapucines bag for the brand, but this time there’s a cat sleeping inside the peel. ## CACTUS COOLER

Hot tub, check. Firepits, check. Ping-Pong table, check. What more do you need from a Coachella-ready Palm Springs hotel with 32 ample rooms kitted out in Egyptian-cotton sheets, marble-tiled showers and Malin + Goetz products? A 42-foot-long swimming pool, that’s what. Arrive, a Palisociety midcentury hotel in the heart of the Uptown Design District, is designed as a base for exploration — whether you’re in town for Modernism Week, Desert X or just a spring weekend jaunting with the hotel’s complimentary cruisers to bask in the deep blue sky and the shade of those lofty, leafy palms. 1551 N. Palm Canyon Dr., Palm Springs, 760-227-7037; arrivehotels.com/palm-springs. AB

LIFE AQUATIC

Big-wave specialist, pro surfer, photographer, filmmaker and model Danny Fuller’s new tome, Liquid Horizon: Meditations on the Surf and Sea (Rizzoli New York, $55), boasts more than 100 nocturnal seascapes — meditative photographs of the world’s most ferocious yet beautiful waves, captured using solely moonlight and slow exposures — which the multihyphenate took between 2007 and 2020. With a foreword by artist Julian Schnabel and an afterword by surf legend Gerry “Mr. Pipeline” Lopez, the new book is a must-have for art buffs and wave junkies alike. A.J.B.
